I am trying to format a date with a variable from a different file. The format is : $tempDate = $file['date']; echo date('m-d-Y',strtotime($tempDate)); However I get this error: Parse error: syntax error, unexpected T_CONSTANT_ENCAPSED_STRING I can't find a solution anywhere. Why is this happening? Thanks. A: date() is expecting you to pass a string and try to use PHP's built in timestamp handling functions, so you want the following: $tempDate = $file['date']; echo date('m-d-Y', strtotime($tempDate)); Alternatively, you could use strtotime() to convert the date to a unix timestamp, then format the result as you wish: $tempDate = $file['date']; echo date('m-d-Y', strtotime($tempDate)); Q: how to use plugin in datagridview I am trying to use this in a program I am creating. This is my code: public class DataGridDragDrop : DataGridView { public DataGridDragDrop()
